Notes

SRP Consultancy Ltd cordially reminds tenants of the following on conclusion of the Tenancy:

1. Inventory

A full check will be made of the inventory. All personal possessions should be removed before Check Out and the property prepared. This includes returning all keys. Should the property not be prepared for Check Out, the appointment will be cancelled and a re-scheduling charge made. In order to avoid any charges for misplaced property or for time spent locating and repositioning items, all furniture and other items should be returned to their original locations in line with the inventory. This includes any items that may have been packed away and placed in storage.

2. Cleaning

It is a requirement that a thorough, in-depth end of tenancy clean of the property is undertaken to a professional standard. In order to avoid unfavorable Check Out reports and considerable charges for further cleaning, if tenants choose to undertake the cleaning themselves, they should consider the following:

- Has lime scale build-up on taps, shower heads and waste fittings been removed?
- Have ceramic kitchen and bathroom tiles been thoroughly cleaned?
- Has burnt on food and grease been cleaned from ovens, wire racks, hobs and grill pans?
- Have kitchen cupboards and drawers been cleaned inside and out?
- Have detergent dispensers and filters of washing machines, tumble dryers and dishwashers been cleaned and cleared?
- Has the paint work on skirting boards, architraves and picture rails been cleaned?
- Have the windows and frames been cleaned, inside and out?
- Have air vents and extractor fans been cleared?
- Have light fittings including shades been cleaned and any non-functioning bulbs replaced?
- Are carpets and flooring clean and free from stains?
- Has upholstery been thoroughly cleaned and any stains removed?
- Have curtains been dry cleaned or laundered and blinds cleaned?
- Have linen and towels been freshly laundered?

The inventory will be checked during Check Out and a note made of any inconsistencies with the original. Allowances for "fair wear and tear" will be made and outside of these, where necessary, the tenant will be liable for the cost of repairs, replacements, cleaning or making good. Typical discrepancies may include:

Carpets: stains, spots, tears, heavy shading, burns

Flooring: damage from heavy usage, scratches or scrapes, stains, burns

Furniture: spoiling, tears, scratches, chips, dents, breaks, stains, water or liquid marks or rings

Curtains: tobacco discoloration, tears, not freshly cleaned

Walls: chips, tobacco discoloration, stains, holes from picture hooks, blue tack marks

Woodwork: chips, dents, scratches, tobacco discoloration

Fireplace: non-permitted use, mantelpiece and hearth damage, un-swept chimneys

Mattresses: soiling, staining

Linen: staining, soiling, tears, not freshly laundered

Gardens: un-swept or un-weeded patios, lawns, paths or driveways, un-maintained borders or bushes, etc.

There is an expectation that the property will be left at a similar level of cleanliness as described in the original inventory, in particular relating to material items. An unsatisfactory level of cleaning will normally lead to most landlords or managing agents engaging a contract cleaner, the cost for which will be deducted from the deposit.

3. Carpets

Generally there will be a requirement to have carpets professionally cleaned but this depends on the agreement and/or length of tenancy. Any costs to professionally remove staining or soiling will be charged to the tenant and compensatory charges will be made to cover any damage such as cigarette burns. If carpets are deemed damaged beyond repair and need to be replaced, the tenant will be liable for part or all of the cost of replacement.

4. Crockery, Glassware, China and Utensils

All crockery, glassware and kitchen utensils, etc. should be properly cleaned and readily accessible. Items will be examined for soiling, cracks, stains, chips, burn marks, pans with loose handles, etc. Any items that were packed away during the tenancy duration should be unpacked, cleaned and reinstated in the original location.

5. Decorations

General wear and tear, such as a few marks and scuffs on woodwork and walls, is usually acceptable. However, any excessive marking will be noted in the Check Out report. This might include marks caused by picture hooks, crayon or pencil marks, wallpaper tears, excessive rubbing of furniture, large chips to woodwork, etc.

6. Beds

Beds should not be made up for Check Out so that they can be easily examined. Beds together with their bases, mattresses and pillows will be examined for damage, soiling and staining that were not previously recorded in the inventory. The cost of any cleaning required will be the responsibility of the tenant, as will part or all of the cost of any necessary replacement. Any linen and bedding should be laundered and pressed and placed in the appropriate storage location.

7. Furniture

Checks will be made on polished furniture for soiling, scratches, ring marks, burns and damage to joints and any discrepancies recorded in the Check Out report. As repair and re-polishing costs can be high, it is in the tenant's interest to take steps to protect furniture by using table cloths and mats, etc.

8. Soft Furnishings

Soft furnishings should be found in a similar condition on Check Out as they were when the tenancy commenced. Charges for repair or replacement may be deducted from a tenant's deposit and any staining, soiling or excessive damage will incur professional cleaning charges. Tenants are therefore reminded to take steps to protect soft furnishings as far as is practicably possible.

9. Keys

All keys listed on the inventory must be available on Check Out and clearly labelled ready to hand back. Any further sets of keys made during the tenancy should also be returned. Throughout the duration of the tenancy, keys should be kept safe. In the event that any keys are lost, there may be a charge to the tenant to replace the locks.

Disclaimers

Only the furniture, furnishings and all contents and equipment in the property that belong to the Landlord are covered by this inventory report. This report does not constitute any guarantee of or report on the safety or adequacy of any such contents or equipment. It serves purely as a record of the superficial condition of the items and that they exist in the property on the date of preparation of the inventory report. The person responsible for preparing this inventory report is not a qualified surveyor neither are they an expert on antiques or materials, etc. The report should not be construed as a structural survey report or used as an accurate description of every item of furniture or equipment, etc. Please check the inventory thoroughly. Whilst every care is taken in carrying out all of our inventories and checkouts, we cannot be held liable in the event of errors or omissions.

In accordance with the Smoke and Carbon Monoxide Alarm (England) Regulations 2015, the landlord is required to have at least one smoke alarm installed on every storey of their properties and a carbon monoxide alarm in any room used as living accommodation containing a solid fuel burning appliance (e.g. a coal fire or wood burning stove). It is also recommended, although not a legal requirement, that any rooms containing gas or oil burning appliances are fitted with carbon monoxide alarms. After that, the landlord must make sure the alarms are in working order at the start of each new tenancy.

This section sets out the presence and location of smoke or carbon monoxide alarms and whether they were tested for power supply. If no alarm is found where it is believed there should be one, this will be stated in the notes as an observation. Only alarms that can be accessed safely will be tested by SRP Inventory clerks. Disclaimer: Where the inventory notes the presence of smoke and carbon monoxide alarms, if tested by SRP Inventories, this will be for power supply and should not be interpreted to mean that these items are fully working and that the property complies with the 2015 regulations. SRP Inventories take no responsibility for damage or malfunction during the testing of such alarms.

General Terms

The following is an extract only from our General Terms:

1. All reports compiled by S.R.P. Inventories are intended as an independent, accurate and fair record of the property including its fixtures and fittings, furniture and décor. The report allows items to be visually identified only. Our clerks will not attempt to verify the details of the manufacturer or the date of production.
2. Reports should never be considered a guarantee of safety or adequacy of any equipment, furniture or contents. They are simply a record of the existence of such items at the time the report is compiled.
3. Where no comments are entered into the condition column of any report, it is accepted that the items are visibly free from defects, damage, soiling or missing parts.
4. The responsibility of agreeing the accuracy of any report lies with the landlord and tenant, or the agent.
5. All measurements given in any reports are approximate.
6. Colours stated in reports, for example silver and gold, are intended as a description of the colour rather than a metal.
7. Our clerks will not attempt to place any financial value on a property or its contents, neither will they seek to ascertain whether an item is reproduction or genuine.
8. Whilst we make a commitment to taking exceptional care over all our reports, we cannot be held liable for any errors or omissions.
9. The landlord or Client Contact has final responsibility for checking the report once delivered. Any dispute over the contents of the report must be notified in writing to us within seven working days upon which we will take appropriate steps to attend to the issues reported.
10. All reports must be digitally signed and dated via the System by the tenant within 7 days. Any discrepancies must be reported in writing within 7 days of the report date otherwise it will be accepted that the report is accurate.
11. It's not our responsibility to test electrical items and we can't be held liable for any faults. We'll check fitted light bulbs and light switches only to make sure they work and only when it is safe and practical to do so. All listed electrical items should be considered complete, as in including plugs and flexes, unless otherwise stated.
12. We'll inspect floor coverings, rugs and carpets to check whether they are adequately clean and then we'll note any defects, as long as they are safely accessible and not obscured.
13. We'll count and check bed linen, towels, etc. and note whether they have been freshly laundered. It's up to our clerks whether they include any soiled items in the inspection and report.
14. Mattresses will only be inspected where accessible but our clerks won't go ahead if the bed is made up.
15. We'll list the presence of intruder alarms, CCTV and other security measures, however they should be considered untested.
16. If at any time our clerks feel unsafe or they have concerns for their health for any sound reason, we reserve the right to cancel the inspection at that point without liability. Our clerk will report any concerns immediately to the Client Contact.
17. We'll take every care to ensure the clerk's tools of the trade are in full working order; however we cannot be held responsible for the failure of any tools such as tablet devices or cameras, etc.
